

Quiet Website Review Checklist

Twelve prompts for finding friction in hierarchy, typography, color, and space.

01 Hierarchy

- ☐ Can a new visitor name the page purpose in five seconds?
- ☐ Does one action clearly carry the most visual priority?
- ☐ Can any competing element be removed without loss?

02 Typography

- ☐ Is the main message readable before the supporting detail?
- ☐ Do line length and spacing make paragraphs comfortable?
- ☐ Are size and weight doing distinct, necessary jobs?

03 Color

- ☐ Does the accent consistently signal action or emphasis?
- ☐ Can every text and control state be read with confidence?
- ☐ Would the hierarchy survive if the page were grayscale?

04 Space

- ☐ Do related elements sit visibly closer together?
- ☐ Does each section have enough room to feel distinct?
- ☐ Can decorative space shrink without weakening structure?
